Mr. Mark Greer and a companion, who had been searching for the body, found it floating in the river. Just after they made the find the police boat arrived upon the scene and the police took charge of the body.

SHOOTING A DOG

Case of Interest Decided in the Police

Mr. Prall Fined and His Bull Terrie

Judge Kimball this afternoon in the Poice Court disposed of the cases resulting from an encounter Sunday afternoon, May 2, in front of the Hotel Arno, between a Great Dane dog, owned by Mr. Gustav A. Erni of 1329 12th street, and a mongre bull terrier, the property of Mr. William E. Prall, jr. After a decidedly interesting hearing Mr. Prall was adjudged guilty of cruelly shooting the Great Dane and also of discharging a firearm in the street. A fine of $10 was imposed in the cruelty case and $5 in the firearm case.

Mr. Erni first took the stand and related the story of the shooting substantially as told in The Star at the time of the service of the warrant on Mr. Prall, last week. He visited the residence of his aunt, adjoining the Hotel Arno, Sunday, May 2. His Great Dane dog, "Olaf," was attacked by a mongrel bull terrier, owned by Mr. Prall, who is a first cousin of Mr. Erni. A small white dog, belonging to the aunt of Mr. Erni, barked at the heels of the bull terrier, and thinking that it would be killed should he separate the big dogs, Mr. Erni picked up the little fellow and placed him within the house. As he was returning to separate his animal and the bull the former received a bullet in the neck. It was badly injured, and is now in a precarious condition as a result of the shooting. The witness had reason to believe that Mr. Prall fired the shot from a balcony just outside his room.

Mr. Malcolm G. Bruce witnessed the told in The Star at the time of the service

Mr. Malcolm G. Bruce witnessed the occurrence. He saw the Great Dane attacked by the bull terrier, and observed Mr. Ernicarry off the little white dog. "Just as he was returning toward the fighting dogs," said Mr. Bruce, "I heard the discharge of a firearm and noticed that the Great Dane was struck. At the same time a commotion was plain on the balcony outside Mr. Prall's rooms. Some potted plants were stirred, and I saw a man receding into the rooms. I cannot swear that it was Mr. Penll's and I saw a man receding into the rooms. I cannot swear that it was Mr. Prall. I am satisfied, however, that the shot was fired from the balcony."

"That is the case of the government," announced Prosecuting Attorney Pugh, when Mr. Bruce had concluded.

"Do you claim that a case has been made out?" asked the court. "Has Mr. Prall been connected with the shooting?"

"Most certainly, we have a case," replied Mr. Pugh, with spirit. "Suppose this was a trial for murder. Does your honor think for an instant that the circumstantial evidence we have presented would not be sufficient to convict the defendant?"

"Well, call the defense," directed Judge Kimball.

Kimball.

Mr. Frank G. Butterworth was the first to appear in behalf of Mr. Prall. He stated from the standpoint of an expert that the built terrier belonging to Mr. Prall is peace-able and good natured; in fact, is a child's pet.

"The law makes all buil dogs victous, pe "The law makes all bull dogs vicious, per se," interjected Mr. Pugh.
Frank Shawley, a foreman in the employ of Mr. Prall, caused much amusement by his endeavors to evade the interrogatories of the prosecuting attorney. After the encounter with the Great Dane, the witness said, he took the bull terrier, that was injured, to Mr. Prall's room.

"Was Mr. Prall there?" asked Mr. Pugh.
"Yes, sir."

"Is his room adjacent to the balcony?"
"Yes, sir."

"Yes, sir."

"What did Mr. Prall say to you?"

"He said he was going to New York," answered Mr. Shawley.

After a great deal of hemming and hawing, and with apprehensive glances at his employer, Shawley finally admitted, in response to a direct question, that Mr. Prall had told him that he (Prall) shot the Great

"I submit the case without argument," "I submit the case without argument," said the prosecuting witness.
Attorney Morris, in behalf of Mr. Prail, urged that the shooting was done in order to save the bull terrier. No cruelty had been perpetrated.

"To my mind no justification for the shooting has been shown," concluded Judge Kimhall. He then imposed the fines stated.

Kimball. He then imposed the fines stated. It is the intention of Mr. Erri to prose-cute Mr. Prail in the United States branch of the Police Court for keeping a vicious

MR. JOHN SAUL.

Arrangements for the Funeral of an Old Resident.

The funeral of Mr. John Saul, chairman of the parking commission, who, as stated in The Star of last evening, died yesterday morning at his home on the Brightwoo road, will take place tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, from St. Patrick's Church, 10th street northwest, of which Mr. Saul had been a member for more than forty-five years.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Father Gloyd, will be celebrant of a solemn high mass, in which he will have as his assistants Revs. Fathers Gillespie of St. Aloysius and McGee of St. Patrick's as deacon and subdeacon, respectively. Rev. Dr. Stafford will make some remarks appro-priate to the occasion. The pallbearers se-lected are: Messrs. John Cammack, Fran-cis Miller, Frank P. May, W. A. Wimsatt, T. I. Murphy, Nicholas Shea, Charles Fisher and Capt. Harry Johnson. The re-mains will be placed temporarily in the vault at Mount Olivet cemetery.

NO ONE APPEARED.

An Alleged Assault Without a Prose euting Witness.

What the police believe to have been a daring attempt at criminal assault occurred shortly before 10 o'clock last night at a point on Missouri avenue, near 3d street opposite the mail. A young woman, who stated her name to be Annie Jones of 606 stated her name to be Annie Jones of 606 6th street, was passing along the sidewalk, when she heard some one say: "You knock her down, then I'll grab her, and we'll take her over in the park." A moment later she felt a hand on her shoulder, and greatly alarmed, the young woman started to run, screaming at the top of her voice.

A citizen, named James Taylor, responded to the cries, and on his approach the would-be assailants, both colored, abandoned the pursuit of the alleged victim and made off in the direction of Pennsylvania avenue. On turning the corner they ran into the arms of Policeman Coghill and Herman Donath. After a struggle they were landed at the sixth precinct station, where they gave their names as George Howard and John L. Logan.

It is thought that the young woman gave an assumed name. Inquiry at 608 5th street disclosed the fact that Miss Annie Jones never resided and is not known there. At all events, when the case was called this afternoon in the Police Court no one appeared to prosecute, and Assistant District Attorney Mullowney was compelled to noile prost the case, Howard and Logan being restored to liberty.

Policeman Edward H. Herbert of the searching for the body, found it floating in the river. Just after they made the find the police boat arrived upon the scene and the police took charge of the body.

CONSUL TO BORDEAUX.

Judge Tourgee the Most Extensively Indorsed Candidate for Office. Albion Winegar Tourgee, who was yesterday nominated to be United States consul to Bordeaux, was born in Williamsfield, Ohio, May 2, 1838. He is of Huguenot descent, and was the son of a farmer. After studying at Rochester University he served in the Union army from 1861 to 1865, and was wounded at Bull Run and at Perryville. He was held as a prisoner by the confederates for four months. After the war he settled at Greensboro', N. C. He opposed the plan for reconstruction that was adopted, favoring the establishment of territorial governments in the seceding states.

He was an active member of the North Carolina constitution convention of 1868 and 1875, and was one of the commission appointed to codify and revise the state laws. In April, 1868, he was elected judge of the superior court for the seventh judi-cial district of North Carolina, his term expiring in 1874. In February, 1876, he was appointed, pension agent for North

He was indorsed by citizens of every state in the Union, and by leading colored men in all parts of the country. He had indorsements from leading authors and publishers and from every bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. John Hay, Horace Porter, Gen. O. O. Howard, ex-Secretary of War Robert T. Lincoln, Gen. Reynolds and others supported him.

Every ex-Union soldier in the Pennsylvania legislature and the North Carolina vania legislature and the North Carolina legislature gave him their indorsement, as did the presidents of Leland Stanford University, Cornell University, Rochester and Hamilton colleges.

Mr. Tourgee was not an original McKinley man.

He worked for the nomination of Mr. Reed, but as soon as the convention had declared its preference he went into the campaign energetically, and made over fifty speeches for McKinley, besides writing a book entitled "The War of the Standards." He spent two weeks in Representative Sibley's district in Pennsylvania, and did much to defeat the silver advocate in his own home.

SUGAR SCHEDULE BEATEN

At Least Forty-Seven Senators Opposed

From the New York Herald. The sugar schedule of the tariff bill as framed by the republican members of the Senate finance committee in the interest of the trust is doomed to defeat. Including seventeen senators who are ab sent and whose views could not be ascertained, the Senate stands thus-Against schedule and trust...... 47 Non-committal 18 Not classified...... 17

Total membership of Senate...... Majority against schedule and trust..... 6 I have made a most careful canvass of the United States Senate on the amended sugar schedule. The result shows a clear majority against the schedule as it stands at present, and, if not materially amended to lessen the protection to the trust, the adoption of a general anti-trust amend-ment.

Of the eighty-eight senators comprising the present membership of the Senate sixty-two were seen personally and their positions defined as given in interviews be-low.

How Senators Stand. These are the senators who will vote against the sugar schedule, as reported by nance committee: Allen, Martin, Mills, Morgan, Berry, Butler Caffery, Cannon Carter, Chilton, Pettigrew. Pettus, Rawlins, Clay, Cockrell, Davis, Faulkner, Roach, Frye, Harris of Kansas, Harris of Tenn., Turner, Turpie, Walthall, Jones of Arkansas, Lindsay, Lodge, McBride, McEnery. Wilson. There are forty-one senators in this list, and there are six other senators who could not be seen, but who, I learn by conversation with their colleagues, can confidently be counted against the sugar schedule. They are Messrs. Daniel, Earle, George, Kenney, Teller and Vest.

These are the senators in favor of the finance committee schedule:

Addrich, Platt of Conn.,

Ouay, There are forty-one senators in this list

White.

Morrill. These are the senators who are non-committal on the sugar schedule: Gorman, Hansbrough, Burrows, Chandler, Cullom, Hawley, Hoar, Murphy, Pritchard, Payable $1 per mo. Fairbanks. Shoup, Spooner, Wellington. Foraker, Gallinger,

Two of the senators classed as in favor of the schedule—Messrs. Allison of Iowa and Aldrich of Rhode Island—were not seen, both being absent from the city. Scrator Morrill of Vermont was non-commital when I saw him this evening, but he can safely be classed as in favor of the schedule. UNITED BUILDING & LOAN ASSOCIATION,

It will be seen that if all those who were non-committal and all not classified should wote in favor of the sugar schedule in its present form it is still doomed to defeat. There is no doubt that the majority against the schedule will be much larger than that given above. Practically the solid democratic and populist votes will be against it, and several republicans who are non-committal or not classified will be in the same column. President......BRAINARD H. THE CIVIL SERVICE LAW. It Will Receive a Judicial Construction in the Keim Case.

The civil service law, particularly the sections of the Revised Statutes which provide for the promotion and retention in office of ex-Union soldiers, will soon be judicially construed by the Court of Claims. The case of Morris Keim is set for trial in the Court of Claims tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, and is regarded by a number of others ready to bring cases as a test case. Early last year Keim filed a petition in the Court of Claims, alleging that in July, 1894, he had been unjustly and summarily dismissed from the Interior Department, where he was a clerk in the pension where he was a clerk in the pension bureau, and that the dismissal was on account of his political faith, and that he was a thoroughly competent clerk at the time. Keim asked the court to give him the amount of his salary for the period he had been out of the service. The government, by the Attorney General, filed a demurrer to the petition, and the court temporarily overruled the demurrer and ordered testimony to be taken and the case briefed on the facts and merits. The case is now ready for trial, and will be argued both upon the law and the facts, the legal question involved being whether or not the Court of Claims, or any other court, for that matter, can take jurisdiction of a case involving the exercise of executive discretion by the head of a department in dismissing a clerk from the service. This involves the consideration of the similar and dependent propositions as to whether the court is to become a quasi executive board of review to look into the official actions of heads of departments and substitute the judgment of the court for that of the executive in the management of the department, the dismissal of clerks, etc. clerks, etc.

It is claimed by the petitioner, however clerks, etc.

It is claimed by the petitioner, however, that his case is stronger than if he relied only upon the civil service law, and he relies in a large measure upon section 1754, Revised Statutes, and section 3 of the act supplemental thereto. These sections provide that persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty, shall be preferred for appointments to civil offices. And that in making reductions and promotions preference shall be given these ex-Union soldiers. The petitioner alleges that by his dismissal both of these sections were flagrantly violated, he being an honorably discharged ex-Union soldier. Keim also alleges that incidentally the civil service law was violated by his dismissal. Strong and lengthy briefs have been filed on both sides, and the argument of the case tomorrow and the decision of the court later on are sure to command much interest. The Attorney General, by his assistant, Capt. John G. Capers, represents the government, and ex-Assistant Attorney General John C. Chaney and Judge Luther R. Smith represent Mr. Keim, the petitioner.
